TURNING THE TABLES.—"Halt! Your money or your life! Throw up your hands!" exclaimed a stranger stepping out from the shadow, while accompanying the words might have been heard the sharp click of a pistol. The person addressed was a weary newspaper man wending his lonely way homeward in the outskirts of the city about three o'clock in the morning.

"Oh, yes, certainly. I'm in no hurry. Only walking for exercise. Just as soon hold up my hands as not. I'm not armed. Please turn that pistol a little to one side. It makes me nervous."

"Hand over your cash!"

"Haven't nary a red with me. You see they took that all away from me when they entered my name upon the books."

"Where did they take your money from you?"

"Oh, yes; why at the pest-house. You see I'm a small-pox patient, just out for exercise. They won't let me walk about in the day time with my face in this condition, so I have to go it after dark, and late at night, when the streets are empty. By the way, stranger, the wind is rather in your direction, and, unless you ain't particular about it, it might be just as well to stand on the other side. I've got my silver watch, though. If you like it, come and take it. You're at perfect liberty to search me, if you like, only don't point that pistol this way; it's uncomfortable. D'ye want the old watch?"

"No, thank you," said the robber, backing away and round toward the other side; "I couldn't take anything from a man so unfortunate as you are. Here—there's half a dollar for you, poor fellow. Go and get something to drink," and he threw the coin toward him, still backing off. "As you're only walking for exercise, it won't incommode you——"

"Oh, not a particle. I'd just as soon walk with you, if you desire it. Either way, though, it's all the same to me. Thank you for your half. Won't you join me and drink to my recovery?"

"Well, you go round the block the other way; as I haven't hurt you, say nothing about having met me. I guess I'll go this way;" and then watching till the supposed small-pox patient turned the corner, he started off on a full run in the opposite direction.

Mr. Newspaper man proceeded on homeward undisturbed, and slept the sleep of one who enjoys the consciousness of having done a good thing, and four bits better off for having met a highwaymen.

TO-DAY AND TO-MORROW.—To-day we gather and bring beautiful flowers—to-morrow they are faded and dead.

To-day a wreath of leaves shades us—to-morrow, sear and fallen, they crumble beneath our tread.

To-day the earth is covered with a carpet of green—to-morrow it is brown with the withered grass.

To day the vigorous stalks only bend before the grain—to morrow "the land is taking its Sabbath after the toil."

To-day we hear sweet songsters of meadow and forest, the buzz and hum of myriad insects; to-morrow—breathe softly—all nature is hushed and silent.

To-day a stately edifice, complete in finish and surroundings, attracts the passer by—to-morrow a heap of ruins marks the site.

To-day there are cattle on a thousand hills—to-morrow they fall in slaughter.

The fashion of the world passeth away. But let Christ dwell within us, and though we may pass away like the faded leaf and the sapless stalks, we shall [illegible] to newness of life,

Where everlasting spring abides
And never withering flowers.

DIVINE PROVIDENCE.

The Lord my table doth prepare,
And spread it with a sumptuous fare;
He in His bounteous, free supply,
Does to me no good thing deny.
He does my morning steps attend,
And all my evening walks defend;
Under His all protecting arm,
I lay me down secure from harm;
And when enwrapt in slumbers deep,
He still his guardian care doth keep;
And in his loving kindness shed,
Numberless blessings round my head;
In trials and afflictions find,
That he is as a parent kind;
His name is like, until revealed,
"A stream shut up, a fountain sealed."
But when His throne's approached in prayer,
He's ever found by the sincere;
To hearts oppress with woeful grief,
He offers means of true relief.
The pure and Heavenly manna, He
Doth give to all that ask it, free;
And with it living water gives,
On which the soul that thirsteth, lives.

THE UNKNOWN.

HAVE COURAGE TO SAY NO.

You're starting to-day on life's journey,
Alone on the highway of life;
You'll meet with a thousand temptations;
Each city with evil is rife.
This world is a stage of excitement;
There's danger wherever you go;
But if you are tempted in weakness,
Have courage, my boy, to say, No.

The siren's sweet song may allure you;
Beware of her cunning and art;
Whenever you see her approaching,
Be guarded and haste to depart.
The billiard saloons are inviting,
Decked out in their tinsel and show;
You may be invited to enter;
Have courage, my boy, to say, No.

The bright ruby wine may be offered—
No matter how tempting it be,
From poison that stings like an adder,
My boy, have the courage to flee.
The gambling hells are before you,
Their lights, how they dance to and fro,
If you should be tempted to enter,
Think twice, even thrice, ere you go.

In courage alone lies your safety,
When you the long journey begin,
And trust in a Heavenly Father
Will keep you unspotted from sin.
Temptations will go on increasing,
As streams from a rivulet flow,
But if you are true to your manhood,
Have the courage, my boy, to say, No.

BIOGRAPHICAL SKETCHES.

BY MRS. LINCOLN PHELPS.

JOHN TYLER'S CHARACTER AND TIMES.

By the death of President Harrison, soon after his inauguration in 1841, the Vice President, John Tyler, became his successor, according to the law of the country.—Both Harrison and Tyler were natives of Charles-city county, situated on the James river, in Virginia; a branch of which, the Chicahominy, so circles the county as to render it a peninsula. This same Chicahominy had a historical record connected with the American Revolution; and in the annals of the war of the Rebellion will hold a place in connection with bloody engagements and discouraging defeats of the United States army.

President Harrison was born in 1773.—He had borne a long life of hardships and adversities, but the sun of prosperity, shining too brightly upon a head frosted by age, his life melted away. Tyler, who was nearly thirty years his junior, had been nominated for the Vice Presidency, because the South claimed this office, and no other available man was thought of. That he would ever become President, seemed not to have been contemplated. Though Mr. Tyler's political course had been somewhat crooked, the Whig party, by whom he was elected, had confidence that he would be faithful to their interests. But the country was astonished at his first public acts, which showed hostility to the great Whig policy of a National Bank, the pet of Henry Clay, then the leader of the party. Congress had passed the bill for the establishment of such a Bank, but to the surprise of the Nation, and consternation of the Whig party, the bill was met by the President's veto. Hoping to effect a compromise with Mr. Tyler, a modification of the National Bank, under the name of "The Fiscal Corporation of the United States," was passed through Congress; but this also received the President's veto, and from that time to the end of his administration he was regarded with suspicion and distrust by all parties.

The Cabinet Ministers whom President Harrison had selected, and whom it was hoped his successor would respect and consult, seeing their opinions had no influence, and unwilling to remain in a false position, gave in their resignations. Daniel Webster alone remained in his place—that of Secretary of State. His enemies imputed this to his love of power and office, while his friends gave him credit for the wish to serve his country in the hour of danger.—Thus do persons and things appear according to the light through which they are viewed.

In an old private journal of that period, dated "Philadelphia, August 12, 1841," we find a reference to President Tyler's vetoes, with some incidental remarks upon certain literary personages, whom for the first time we met at our boarding house on 4th Street, near Walnut.

Walter Colton, late Chaplain of the Navy, was then editor of the "North American." He had published his popular work, "Ship and Shore, and Voyage to Constantinople." To quote from the journal:

"Mr. Colton is somewhat below medium size, of a serious countenance, and reserved manner. Whether he thought it unbecoming the dignity of a literary celebrity to make advances to a stranger, I did not know; but when Miss Leslie, who is also a boarder, appeared, Mr. Colton's manner became sociable. After a day or two of observation upon the two authors, I found they usually conversed in an undertone, taking no notice of others at table, by any look or act of civility. Though this did appear rude and repulsive, I determined not to take offence, and venturing some remark was met by a cordial response; whereupon I reflected that perhaps my own manner had been in fault. Mr. Colton, as editor of a political paper, was much interested in the fate of the proposed "Fiscal Bank;" he did not believe the President would dare to veto the bill which had passed the House and Senate. When the news arrived that this had been done, Mr. Colton was much agitated; he inveighed against "Tyler and his Virginia abstractions." He does not entertain an exalted opinion of the President's intellect. He says that in conversing with Mr. Tyler on the subject of Navy Chaplains, he remarked that they ought to be men of decided piety and exemplary conduct. "Yes," said Tyler, "that is what I intend to do—to appoint pious young men of lofty demeanor." Mr. Colton is fond of music; he seems to enjoy Jane's harp playing. There have been some pains taken to have a good instrument for her, and she is never backward to do her part. Miss Leslie too enjoys the harp; so that we have all become very good friends.

"Mrs. Judge Berrien, of Georgia, introduced by a mutual friend, pleases me by her simple, unassuming manners; she dresses her children with great simplicity in calico frocks with long sleeved aprons."

It must be considered that this old Journal was written in 1841, when the South was regarded as an El Dorado, and Southern families at the North were generally extravagant. Passing from Philadelphia to Washington in 1841, the private journal from which we have quoted has pages written from the seat of government, under date of Sept. 6th. It was our first visit there, and our first impressions are thus expressed:

"It is very difficult to realize that I am now in the Capitol of the United States; small indeed when compared to New York, Philadelphia and Baltimore. Looking out from my window in the second story of Gadsby's Hotel,* where we have a fine suite of rooms, I see an extensive waste common, with clay banks and patches of scanty herbage, not relieved by shrub or tree, and that muddy Tiber and poor Goose-creek. How humiliating is all this to the pride of Americans! What must foreigners think of our national glory? Congress adjourned its special session a few days since, but without coming to any terms with the President. The country is in a state of excitement."

In the autumn of this same year, 1841, the writer, having assumed the charge of the Patapsco Institute in Maryland, visited Washington during the winter session of Congress, and thus journalizes under date of Feb. 15, 1842:—"We find pleasant rooms, which had been engaged for us at Gadsby's, but too many ups and downs (like political life) to get to them. After a hasty arrangement of our toilettes, we went to the Capitol, but nothing of interest was going on. We met with Mrs. Judge R——, of New York, and her father Gov. V——ss, recently returned from his Mission to Spain. They proposed going with us to the President's reception this evening. At dinner, we were interested in the conversation of a distinguished Philadelphia lawyer, Mr. Sergeant, and saw many other celebrities." The particulars of the President's reception, as described in the private journal, we will not copy in full, but make a few extracts:—"The President approached as I was conversing with his daughter-in-law, Mrs. Robert Tyler, jr. Some one remarked upon the throng of applicants for office. He said the ladies are most pressing; some begging for husbands, brothers and sons, others for their lovers.—One young lady, whom he had met at the Harrisburg Convention, had appealed to him to redeem his pledge, his signet ring. It is evident that Mr. Tyler has a spice of romance in his character."

Yes, this was manifested some years after in his marriage to a young lady who might have been his daughter.

The old jounal gives our impressions of many persons whose names will remain connected with the history of our country. An interesting interview with Mrs. Madison is described, her manner of receiving in her own house, &c. But we have already extended this article beyond our limits.—Should circumstances favor, we will offer another article for the "Star & Sentinel," and finish our remarks on the life of John Tyler, the tenth President of the United States.

*Now called the National Hotel.

THE AGE OF OUR EARTH.—Among the astounding discoveries of science, is that of the immense periods that have passed in the gradual formation of the earth. So vast were the cycles of the time preceding even the appearance of man on the surface of our globe, that our own period seems as yesterday, when compared with the epochs that have gone before it. Had we only the evidence of the deposits of rocks heaped on each other in regular strata by the slow accumulation of materials, they alone would convince us of the long and slow maturing of God's work on earth; but when we add to these the successive populations of whose life the world has been the theater, and whose remains are hidden in the rocks into which the mud, or sand, or soil of whatever kind on which they lived, has hardened in the course of time—or the enormous chains of mountains whose upheaval divided these periods of quiet accumulation by great convulsion—or the changes of a different nature in the configurations of our globe, as the sinking of the lands beneath the ocean, or the gradual rising of continents and islands above—or the slow growths of the coral reefs, those wonderful sea walls raised by the little ocean architects, whose own bodies furnish both the building stones and the cement that binds them together, and who worked so busily during the long centuries that there are extensive countries, mountain chains, islands, and long lines of coast, consisting solely of their remains—or the countless forests that have grown up, flourished and decayed, to fill the storehouse of coal that feeds the fires of the human race—if we consider all these records of the past, the intellect fails to grasp a chronology of which our experience furnishes no data, and time that lies behind us seems as much an eternity to our conception as the future that stretches indefinitely before us.—Agassiz.

TEACH YOUR BOYS A TRADE.—Of 13,496 prisoners in the penitentiaries of thirty states in 1868, according to the report of the Prison Association just issued, 77 per cent. more than three-quarters, had not learned a trade. Here is a text from which Dr. Franklin could have preached a forcible sermon to parents.

A man who has a good trade has an independence. He has need only to be honest and diligent to secure a competence. Bread and butter are sure for him wherever he is. He is sure always of higher wages than he who has no trade; and if his genius and enterprise lead him into some other calling, it is always a satisfaction to know that in case of misfortune he can return to his trade. He has that at any rate; failure in business cannot deprive him of it; his speculation may break down, but he has an anchor to leeward, as the sailors say; his subsistence and that of his family are sure.

The time was when it was not thought reputable for parents to leave their children without trades—unless they belonged to the class of gentry. In France, before the revolution, this provident sentiment or instinct was so strong that even the children of the nobles were in some cases taught some light handicraft, and when the storm came, and they were expelled from their homes and deprived of their fortunes, many of them subsisted by the trades they had amused themselves with in more prosperous days.

In this country, where fortunes, quickly gained, are also quickly lost, it is still more necessary and prudent that every young man should learn a useful trade, and learn it thoroughly. No man's future is so secure here, but that he would do wisely to have his boys—and his girls, too, for that matter—taught a trade.

NOTHING TO DO.

It is not creditable to our women that they alone supply the class of professed idlers in this country. None in America but the young ladies, as they choose to be called, dare to acknowledge that they have nothing to do. The few male youths, born heirs to fortune, who are without occupation, being equally insignificant in number and character, are not worth taking into account. It is a fact that our rich men are generally among the busiest of people; and although their work may not always be of the more noble kind, still it is not less true that they scorn to be idlers. It is impossible for men to live as drones in this country. They are either driven out of the American hive or smothered in its sweets. Our countrymen who are men of fortune and have nothing to do, either go to Europe, or, if they stay at home, destroy themselves with the rust of indolence or satiety of indulgence.

Our women—of course we speak of those who are beyond the necessity of earning their daily bread by their daily labor—are deliberately educated to idleness. Their namby-pamby schooling, with its frivolous accomplishments, as they are termed, has no other purpose and no other result than to give them a thin varnish of learning, to conceal from the casual observer their real ignorance. Beyond the passable facility of reading and writing, which they acquire in common with the humblest American, they have merely the manners, or rather the pretension, of education. This consists in nothing more than such a familiarity with the terms and names of science and literature as not to be very much startled at their mention in polite society. The only difference, for example, between Bridget the maid, and Miss Arabella upon whom she attends, is probably that the servant, if not long in the country, never—and the mistress often has—heard, for example, the name of Shakspeare. Both are equally ignorant of what he has written. It is not likely there are many young ladies who would feel themselves, like Dr. Johnson's fisherman, grossly insulted by being termed philologists; but most of them, we fear, would have to turn to their dictionaries before they could measure the size of the compliment. Few, very few, we are sorry to confess, of the occupants of our parlors know the poets, philosophers, and historians intimately; more have merely a speaking acquaintance; but most barely recognize them when they see their names or hear them spoken of. That an education with such a result should terminate so soon is perhaps not to be regretted; but it is lamentable that the finished damsels of our "Female Institutes" and fashionable schools do not find something more serious than the frivolities of dress and social dissipation to occupy their adult energies.

Some, with a suitable preliminary education, would find a sympathetic pursuit in science or literature, but a capacity or taste for these is not given to all. Mere household duty, however incumbent upon every woman in certain positions, is not enough, especially where her means will allow of the severer laborers being imposed upon servants, to engage the full mental energy of a sound female intellect. No properly constituted and developed mind can ever be satisfied with an insight into the mysteries of raspberry-jam, or a knowledge of the construction of an apple-dumpling. There is, moreover, no necessity for an exclusive devotion to the details of household duty. These, of course, must not be neglected, but their fullest performance is entirely consistent with other more serious occupation.

There seems to be no reason why most women, even those who are so fortunate as to possess male relations capable and willing to support them, should not have in common with men a vocation. Their usefulness, and their happiness too, would be greatly increased if they took a larger share in the business of the world. Why should they not fit themselves to become partners with their future husbands in the various callings? Why should they not, like their brothers, learn to do something by which they might lessen their burden upon society, or secure, in case of necessity, their entire independence?

Our young women should get rid, in the first place, of the idea that the great object of life is to become merely finely-dressed female idlers, or what they are so fond of being called, ladies. It would be well that this term were abolished altogether, or kept to use exclusively with the prefix of "fine," as a term of contempt as now properly applied to a class of worthless women. With the casting off of the word lady as vulgarized in our country, and the general assumption of the term woman, would come a better appreciation of her duties. Our daughters and wives would then be less disposed to live as if the perfection of their being was to be finely dressed and have nothing to do.

A JAPANESE EXECUTION.—While we had been making our tour of inspection the doomed culprit had been unlashed and dismounted from his horse at the gate. But when set on his feet he was unable to stand, owing to weakness and the constrained and painful position in which he had been kept so long, and his guards were obliged to carry him into the precincts of the prison. Here an ample breakfast had been provided, of which he ate heartily, and with evident enjoyment. After a full half hour it was intimated to him that his presence was expected. With the assistance of an attendant on each side, he walked slowly into the execution-ground, and was placed, kneeling and sitting on his heels (in the universal Japanese posture), behind a small hole dug out for the reception of his head. Some ten yards in front of him, and separated by a rope running across the square, sat the presiding yakonin and the prison authorities, calmly fanning themselves; and beyond these again were six or eight foreigners who had been admitted.

The prisoner's arms were then pinioned behind his back; but before the cloth was tied over his eyes, he requested that a minute's grace might be allowed him. This being granted, he raised a weak, quavering voice to its highest pitch, and screamed out, "My friends!" Immediately an unearthly chorus of wails answered the poor wretch from his friends outside the walls, none of whom could be seen from the interior. This was followed by "Syonara" (good bye), and by a deeper and more prolonged wail from the crowd outside. The prisoner then signaled to his guards that he was ready, and submitted quietly to the operation of blindfolding; the executioner stepped up, and carefully adjusting the victim's head a little on one side, so as to hang exactly over the hole prepared to receive it, signified that all was ready; the word was given, when, without raising his weapon more than a foot above the neck of the condemned, the executioner brought down his heavy blade with an audible thud which severed the head instantly from the body.

Immediately the head fell it was seized, carefully washed and cleaned, the procession was re-formed as before—except that the horse previously ridden by the deceased now carried the executioner in charge of the lifeless head—and wended its way to a [illegible] of the highway a quarter of a mile distant. Here a kind of gallows had been erected, and on this was placed the dead man's head, supported in its position by clay, there to remain for six days, in sight of all passers-by, and a warning to all evil-doers.—LYMAN ABBOTT, in Harper's Magazine for August.

THE DEAD-LETTER OFFICE—ITS CURIOSITIES.

Perhaps no division of any department under the Federal Government is engaged in more important and responsible duties bearing directly upon the interests of the public at large than the Dead Letter branch of the General Postoffice Department.—Here are collected all manner of letters, coming from the wealthy and refined aristocrat and the humblest and obscure citizen. The office is under the immediate supervision of Charles Lyman, Esq., coming under the jurisdiction of the Third Assistant Postmaster General, General William H. H. Terrill. There are employed in opening and recording letters received ninety clerks, male and female. The large amount of matter received daily in this division is immense. It is sent to the upper story, upon which floor the Dead Letter Office is situated, by means of a dumb waiter. There are opened daily 10,000 letters, each clerk engaged on this particular business being required to open from 1,000 to 1,200 letters. All letters containing valuables are recorded, and the writers informed that they are held subject to their disposal. To give an estimate of the amount of matter that accumulates monthly in this branch of the Postoffice Department, we extract some items of interest in the last annual report of Mr. Lyman. Whole number of letters received, 333,365; whole number of letters and circulars destoyed, 157,836; total delivered to owners, 156,061; total money letters received, in value, $7,333,31. The prominent cause of the non-delivery of letters is the unmailable character of many of them. The largest receipts were during the war, when thousands of letters failed to reach the soldiers to whom they were addressed. Many foreign letters are not delivered on account of insufficient addresses. The geographical extent of the United States and Territories being as yet unsettled, and the constant arrival of emigrants in search of new homes in remote regions, and the continual changing of places of abode in a thinly settled country operate to increase the difficulty in the delivery of foreign letters, many bearing only the name, and addressed "United States." Many are addressed without any destination being attached, others are not stamped, and a great many are stamped with United States internal revenue stamps. From a pile of letters are selected the following addresses, some of which betray ignorance, but the majority gross carelessness: "Mister Makarti, Kare of Mister Muldoon, forninst the Protestant Church, New York." "James Prince, Esq., California." "Harry C. Everzer, treasurer of the Excelsior base ball club, Illinois." "M. Guillame Favie, Rue de Fremont, Ville de Casiliano, Des Etats Unis, Nord Amerique." "For Bill Clements, at the Cross roads, Burbun Kounti, Kintuky." "Heinrich Von Schappen, aitl-mil-arkpensil." "Secretary of the Insurance Company, Philadelphia." "Mikul Kelly, hods man, Sinsiati." "Rev. Edward Cartwright, England." "Mr. Edgar Smith" (no city or State given). "To the member of Congress from Ohio." Many others might be given, but the above are fair specimens. In a small room adjoining the main office is contained a large collection of valuables of all kinds, which have been accumulating for some time. During the war a large number of soldiers' photographs were received through the mails, all of which have been preserved in portfolio form. Among the large number on hand, nearly every day some are recognized and returned to those having claims upon them. Among the list of other valuables is a package of cocoons and raw silk, which was mailed from San Francisco to Paris and sent to the Dead Letter office on account of non-payment of postage, the person to whom the package was addressed refusing to pay the same. A great variety of other articles are also to be seen, consisting of ambrotypes, pictures, teas, coffee, soap, apparel of all kinds, dolls, jewelry, and in fact almost everything for which the mails are considered a safe means of transmission. Every year or two a sale of miscellaneous articles of value, for which no owner can be found, is advertised in the public prints, and the announcement invariably attracts large throngs of purchasers, some of whom hope to make good bargains, while others desire only to secure curiosities. The prices received are generally fair, and in some instances the bidding is brisk on certain articles which are valuable as curiosities or relics. Many of the articles, especially of clothing, stationery, perfumery, jewelry, &c., are really valuable and useful.—Washington Chronicle.

THE WANDERER'S PRAYER.

On a cold, dreary evening in autumn, a small boy, poorly clad, yet cleanly and tidy, with a pack upon his back, knocked at the door of an old Quaker in the town of S——. "Was Mr. Lanman at home?" "Yes." The boy wished to see him, and he was speedily ushered into the host's presence.

Friend Lanman was one of the wealthiest men in the county, and President of the L——Valley Railroad. The boy had come to see if he could obtain a situation on the road. He said he was an orphan—his mother had been dead only two months, and he was now a homeless wanderer. But the lad was too small for the filling of any place within the Quaker's gift, and he was forced to deny him. Still he liked the looks of the boy, and said to him:

"Thee may stop in my house to-night, and on the morrow I will give thee names of two or three good men in Philadelphia, to whom thee may apply with assurance of kind reception, at least. I am sorry I have no employment for thee."

Later in the evening the old Quaker went the rounds of his spacious mansion, lantern in hand, as was his wont, to see that all was safe, before retiring for the night. As he passed the door of the little chamber where the poor wandering orphan had been placed to sleep, he heard a voice. He stopped and listened, and distinguished the tones of a simple, earnest prayer. He bent his ear nearer, and heard these words from the boy's lips:

"O, Good Father in Heaven! help me to help myself. Watch over me as I watch over my own conduct; and care for me as my deeds shall merit! Bless the good man in whose house I am sheltered, and spare him long, that he may continue his bounty to other suffering and needy ones. Amen!"

And the Quaker responded another Amen as he moved on; and as he went his way, he mediated. The boy had a true idea of the duties of life, and possessed a warm grateful heart. "I verily think the lad will be a treasure to his employer!" was his concluding reflection.

When the morning came, the old Quaker had changed his mind concerning his answer to the boy's application.

"Who learned thee to pray?" asked Friend L.

"My mother, sir," was the soft reply.—And the rich brown eyes grew moist.

"And thee will not forget thy mother's counsels?"

"I cannot; for I know that my success in life is dependent upon them."

"My boy, thee mayest stay here in my house; and very soon I will take thee to my office. Go now, and eat thy breakfast."

Friend L. was gathered to the spirit harvest shortly after the breaking out of the war of the rebellion; but he lived to see the poor boy he had adopted rise, step by step, until he finally assumed the responsible office which the failing guardian could no longer hold. And to-day there is no man more honored and respected by his friends, and none more feared by gamblers and evil-minded speculators in irresponsible stock, than is the once poor wanderer—now President of one of the best managed and most productive Railways in the United States.

JUDGE OF SUPREME COURT
HON. HENRY W. WILLIAMS.

COUNTY CONVENTION.

The Republicans of Adams county, and all favorable to the Administration of President GRANT, the re-election of that tried and faithful public servant, Gen. JOHN W. GEARY, the election of Judge WILLIAMS to the Supreme Bench, and of the complete triumph of the principle of universal freedom and Republican institutions, are requested to assemble at their usual places of holding Delegate elections, on SATURDAY, AUGUST 21, 1869, to select TWO Delegates from each District to represent them in County Convention, to be held in the Court House, in Gettysburg, on MONDAY, August 23, 1869, at 10 o'clock, A. M., to nominate a County Ticket to be supported at the October Election, and to transact such other business as may come before the Convention.

☞The time for holding the Delegate Elections in all the Districts will be between the hours of 4 and 6 o'clock, P. M., except in the Boroughs of Gettysburg, Littlestown and Berwick, and Huntington township, where they will be held between the hours of 7 and 9 o'clock, P. M.

THE difference between modern and old-time Democracy is that offices are put up at the auction block instead of slaves. Asa Packer bid highest at their late State Convention, and carried off the Gubernatorial nomination.

DURING the war the Hon. C. L. Vallandigham, the noted rebel from Ohio, was the invited guest of the Hon. Asa Packer, Democratic candidate for Governor, at his residence in Mauch Chunk. Vallandigham was repudiated by the loyal people of Ohio—Packer will fare no better in Pennsylvania.

AN election in Kentucky, for State Treasurer and members of the Legislature, took place on Monday. But little interest was manifested by either party, the State being hopelessly Democratic. The vote was light, and the Democratic majority about 40,000.—Seymour had 76,313 majority last November over Grant.

NASBY had a rough time of it recently in trying to fill an engagement on behalf of the National Democratic Committee, to "stump" Pennsylvania, Ohio, Kentucky, Indiana and Tennessee. He found himself in hot water wherever he went, because of the contradictory character of the party platforms in these States, and finally gave it up in disgust. See his letter in another column.

THE Hon. Isaac Toucy, Secretary of the Navy under Buchanan, died in Hartford, Connecticut, on Friday last. He was suspected of strong sympathy with the Rebels in 1861, and Congress by a vote of 95 to 62, adopted resolutions strongly censuring his administration of the Navy department, especially his accepting, without delay or hindrance, the resignations of officers of the Navy to enable them to enter freely into the service of the Rebellion.

THE forthcoming statement of the public debt will indicate a reduction, during the month of August, of over seven millions of dollars, making a grand total, since the commencement of the new administration, of from forty-one to forty-three millions. This is good news for tax-payers and bondholders; for all who rejoice in the maintenance of the national credit, and at the same desire a diminution of the existing burdens upon industry.

MR. EDWARD ATKINSON, of Boston, has prepared a paper in which he estimates our surplus revenue for the financial year just closed at $50,000,000, and for the financial year ending June 30, 1870, at $100,000,000 more. As most of the surplus must be devoted to buying up our bonds, he anticipates that these will soon advance to par in gold in the European markets, and that it will be easy to change our 5-20 6 ℔ cent. bonds into a long loan at 4½ ℔ cent., exempt from taxation.

EVERY Governor of the State of Pennsylvania has been a native-born Pennsylvania. Mifflin was born in Philadelphia, M'Kean in Chester county, Snyder in Lancaster, Findlay in Franklin, Hiester, Shulze and Ritner, in Berks, Wolf in Northumberland, Porter and Shunk in Montgomery, Johnston and Geary in Westmoreland, Bigler in Cumberland, Pollock in Northumberland, and W. F. Packer and Curtin in Centre. The people of Pennsylvania have no idea that the harmony of this list shall be broken by adding to it the name of a "Connecticut carpet-bagger."

A NEW and dangerous counterfeit $10 Greenback has recently made its appearance, so well executed as to defy detection by some of the experts in the Treasury Department. At first glance it appears to be a perfect imitation, and the printing seems to have been done from the original plates. The borders, and the engraving of the borders, usually a good test for detection, are here equal to the engraving on the original notes. It would be well for persons not good judges of paper money to be careful in receiving notes of this denomination. The tests of the new counterfeit are given in the city papers:

In the original the shading around the 10 in the medallion appears like a fine network, and runs close up to the figures. In the counterfeit note this shading is "picked up," and becomes coarse as it reaches the figures, forming a slight streak or circular haze, similar to that about the moon before rain. There is no haze in the genuine note. This is a slight point for detection. A clearer one is the fact that, in the original notes, within the light circle running under the figures 10, there are three and a third dots on the left of the figure 1. In the counterfeit bill the one-third dot is missing. The following diagrams will explain the difference:—

:10	:10
Spurious.	Genuine.

But an infallible mark of distinction is found under the left wing of the eagle. In the genuine notes are four distinct rows of feathers under the wing. In the counterfeits these rows of feathers are undefined, and this seems to be the only weak spot in the whole engraving.

TOTAL ECLIPSE OF THE SUN.

To-morrow, August [illegible] the unusual event of a total eclipse of the sun will be witnessed in a portion of the United States. The recurrence of this phenomenon in the same locality is very rare. The celebrated astronomer, Halley, computed in 1715 that up to that date no total eclipse of the Sun had occurred at London for a period of 575 years. And since that date none has occurred at that place.—At Paris, during the Eighteenth Century, but one total eclipse of the Sun was seen, that of 1724; and during the Nineteenth Century none has been, or will be, seen. We are told by astronomers at Washington that "no total eclipse of the sun has been visible in any considerable portion of this country since 1834, and none will be visible after this year during the present century."

The total eclipse of this year will be visible along a track about 140 miles wide, and more than 6,600 miles long. It begins in Siberia, where it takes a north-easterly course, till it crosses a little south of Behring's Straits, after which it turns its course south-easterly, traversing portions of our new territory of Alaska, thence into British America, and through Montana, Dakota, Nebraska, Iowa, Missouri, Illinois, Indiana, Kentucky, Tennessee, and North Carolina. It ends in the Atlantic Ocean, off the coast of the last mentioned State. All places situated on the central line of this track will have the sun totally obscured for a period varying from 2m. 23s. to 3m. 47.3s. according to geographical position.—Places situated on the borders of the track, or about 70 miles on either side of the central line, will have the sun just covered completely for an instant; and the duration of the total phase will be greater the nearer the place is to the central line. Outside of the track of total phase, on the northern side, only a partial eclipse of the sun's southern limb, and on the south side of the track a partial eclipse of the northern limb will be seen. But the duration and magnitude of the partial eclipse will be greater in proportion as the place of observation is nearer the borders of the track of total phase.

At Gettysburg, and along the southern border of Pennsylvania, about five-sixths of the sun will be observed, commencing about five minutes after 5 o'clock in the evening and ending about 7. The late hour of the day at which the eclipse takes place, will make the phenomenon more marked even where not total.

Total eclipses of the sun have always attracted great attention from astronomers, the observations made on these occasions bearing largely on the problem of the sun's constitution, and related scientific topics. Especial interest attaches to the eclipse of to-morrow, and a number of scientific parties, some organized by the Government and some by private enterprise, have gone to various points on the line of total eclipse, with improved instruments for observation, of recent invention.—Among these expeditions is one from Philadelphia, organized by Prof. Morton, and connected with which are Prof. Mayer, formerly of Pennsylvania College, and Prof. Himes of Dickinson College. They take with them the fine equatorial telescope belonging to Pennsylvania College, the use of which was granted by the Board of Trustees at their late meeting. Among the problems, the solution of which will engage the attention of observers, will be the discovery of the additional planet or planets thought to be within the orbit of Mercury, the existence of which has been affirmed by La Verrier and other astronomers as necessary to account for certain disturbances in the planetary system, unexplainable on any other theory, but which have heretofore defied the power of telescopes to discover.

The phenomenon, even in this locality, will be an interesting one. Should the evening be favorable some of the phenomena peculiar to a total eclipse—such as the corona around the moon, and the appearance of the larger planets and fixed stars—may be observable, if pains be taken to screen off the remaining bright crescent of the sun. Where nothing better can be had, a piece of plain glass, smoked over a candle or lamp, in some parts more deeply shaded than in others, to suit the varying intensity of the sun's rays during the progress of the eclipse, will enable the observer to see most of the phenomena. Pieces of red or ruby tinted glass, of different shades or depths, can be used to advantage, instead of smoked glass.

A CONTRAST.

Nearly a generation ago, says the Beaver Radical, Geary and Packer were both Democrats. The Democratic party embroiled the country in the Mexican war, that additional territory might be secured for slavery. Packer, a cold, scheming, money-getting man, supported the war for that reason.—Geary, young, brave, enthusiastic, and patriotic, led his command against a hostile army without inquiring into aims and motives of the war. It was enough for him to know that his country was waging war, and like a soldier, he inquired very little beyond the fact that the flag should be upheld. Years after, when slavery demanded that Kansas should have the accursed institution forced upon her against her will, Packer favored the execrable project, while Geary, sent out as Governor, did his best to thwart the villainy. Afterwards, when the shock, engendered by the Kansas-Nebraska iniquity, was about to tear the Nation, Packer sympathized with secession, while Geary again drew his sword against that heresy and crime. Geary held our country to be a nation with the right and power to defend its life; Packer insisted that it was a rope of sand, and that "coercion" was treason. Geary believed that South Carolina committed treason by firing upon the American flag; Packer that Massachusetts committed treason by being in favor of liberty. While Geary was drilling his regiment for the field, Packer was whining about "making war on our Southern brethren." When Geary was driven back defeated, and reinforcements were demanded, Packer was hand-in-glove with the Copperheads in preventing enlistments. When volunteering was well nigh stopped by Packer and his party, and Geary was in sore need of men, the party who now honor Packer, and their candidates, were doing all they could to obstruct the draft, even to the shooting of Provost Marshals. All through that bloody period Geary was supporting his country with his blood; Packer was doing everything to thwart and defeat her.

And now that the fearful conflict has passed, the difference between these two men and their supporters remains, and these two have become representatives of the policy and the principles now animating their followers. Geary insists that the party which saved the Republic should rule; Packer, that those who endeavored to destroy the Government, encouraged the Rebellion, resisted the drafts, and denounced our soldiers, are the fittest to govern.—Geary and his party demand that the fruits of the blood-bought victory over Slavery and Treason shall be secured for posterity; Packer and his party that they should be abandoned and Rebels restored to power. Geary, who preferred to serve his country instead of devoting his time to amassing wealth, insists that the national debt, contracted to carry on the war against Treason, shall be paid in good faith; Packer, who instead of serving the country, devoted all his efforts to amassing a colossal fortune, affiliates with those who would repudiate this debt and beggar countless widows and orphans, and dishonor the nation. Both have been earnest and consistent in their aims and purposes, and between them the people of Pennsylvania must choose. On that choice rests the future welfare of the State, and we do not doubt the Republicans of Adams county are prepared to accept the issue again presented by the Democratic party in the nomination of an anti-War, Peace-at-any-piece candidate for Governor, and affirm their continued adhesion to the cause that saved the country.

THE PUBLIC DEBT.

Secretary BOUTWELL's monthly summary of the state of the public debt for July continues to show the result of an honest collection of the taxes, an economical administration of the Government, and a wise appliance of the surplus means of the Treasury to the sustainment of the public credit. The apparent decrease in the debt during the month of July was $7,435,744,29, the actual decrease was $1,636,861,37 more the Treasury having advanced that amount in interest on the Pacific Railroad bonds during the month. During the five months since March 1st, when a Republican Administration became responsible for the management of the National finances, the entire decrease in the public debt has been $43,896,523,72. This is an average decrease of about $8,779,000 a month, and over one hundred millions if continued throughout the year. Of the decrease since March, $27,042,737 is actually in the shape of a sinking fund of United States coin interest bonds, and interest collected or accrued thereon, or in other similar bonds and interest thereon, purchased by the Secretary and held to await the action of Congress hereafter. The formation of this sinking fund has so wholly met the approval of the country that we cannot doubt that Congress will direct the whole amount, now in the Treasury or which the Secretary may purchase before its meeting, to be converted into that fund, to be held inviolate, with its accruing interest, for the redemption of the public debt.

There is no reason to doubt that, with the same faithful collection of the taxes and a continuance of the economy that has marked the present Administration we shall be fully able to continue the average decrease of the present year, and by the 1st of March, 1870, show that we owe one hundred millions of dollars less than in March, 1869. The actual expenditures of the Government for the fiscal year ending June 30th were about $320,500,000, the receipts $370,500,000, showing a surplus of $50,000,000. But in that year we paid $7,200,000 in gold for Alaska, and $18,500,000 for bounties. We do not propose at present to dabble further in the real estate market, and $3,000,000 more will entirely settle the bounty account. Here are two important items, aggregating nearly $25,000,000, to be taken out of the expenditure account for the current year. Taking into account the more effectual collection of the taxes and their natural increase by the growth of the country, the estimate of one hundred millions surplus for the first year of General Grant's Administration is not at all excessive, and more likely to be exceeded than not.—Baltimore American.

THE Tennessee State election took place yesterday. We have no returns up to the hour of going to press. The Republicans are divided, as in Virginia, one wing running Senter for Governor and the other Stokes. Both claim to be Republicans, and pledge themselves to support Grant's administration and Manhood Suffrage. The Democrats have no candidate, but go for Senter, negro suffrage and all, as did their brethern in Virginia. Senter was probably elected.

THE Commissioner of Internal Revenue is of the opinion that he has succeeded in suppressing pretty effectually illicit distilleries in every section of the country except in Philadelphia, where he yet hears of considerable trouble between distillers and Assessors. In New York he has found a vast amount of illicit distillation, which has resulted in the closing of most of the distilleries there.

THE returns of the election in Alabama, on Tuesday, come in slowly.—The latest returns indicate the election of four Republicans and one Democratic member of Congress, with one district in doubt.

OHIO.—In Ohio the pending political contest will be complicated by the introduction of the public school question. The Catholics of the State, or a portion of them at least, under the generalship of the Archbishop of Cincinnati, are desirous of overturning the present public shool system and supplying its place with denominational schools. The Republican party is strongly opposed to this plan, and the Republican journals are speaking out strongly in favor of the system as it is, under which some three millions of dollars are annually expended for public school education. It is understood that General Rosecrans, the Democratic candidate for Governor, is in favor of the proposed change, but the Democratic papers generally ignore the question and do not commit themselves upon either side.

CURTAILING EXPENSES.—The Administration continues to cut down expenses in every quarter, and President Grant is fulfilling his promises to manage the affairs of the Government in as economical a manner as possible. The curtailing process is being pursued with especial vigor in the Revenue Department. Hundreds of assistants are being discharged all over the country in accordance with instructions from Secretary Boutwell, and the work which was formerly partitioned among four, five or more assistant Assessors and Collectors is now performed by half that number. We predict that this work of retrenchment will continue to be pushed until by another year's time a very great diminution in the national expenditures will appear.

AMONG the comfortable Philadelphia incomes this year are those of J. B. Lippincott, $85,200; H. G. Morris, $107,236; Charles J. Peterson, $32,506; S. P. M. Tasker, $115,000; and T. T. Tasker, Jr., $149,556; J. A. Brown, $112,826; J. Gillingham Fell, $195,820; Henry C. Gibson, $279,541; Charles O. Harrison, $106,574; L. A. Gody, $39,880, and the ex-Secretary of the Navy less than $8,000.

Now that the English Liberals have succeeded in establishing one great measure of political reform—the disestablishment of the Irish Church—it is said that their next movement will be to bring before Parliament a thorough and complete scheme in favor of popular education.

A SOUTHERN paper says mosquitoes may be driven from a room by placing a piece of gum camphor one-third the size of a common egg in a tin vessel and evaporating it by holding it over a lamp, taking care it does not ignite. The smoke will fill the room and expel the mosquitoes.

A BOY while angling in the canal at Cincinnati, the other day, got what he thought a very promising bite. He cautiously drew in his line, when he found he had on the hook a small tin box, which he found to contain $80 in silver, $40 in greenbacks, and two gold rings worth $10 each.

A CORRESPONDENT of the Country Gentleman in an article on raising wheat says: "If the farmers of this State would try one-half as hard to raise their own bread as some of them do to raise fast horses to spoil their children with, we should soon hear the last of importing wheat from the West."

THE editor of the Prairie Herald, published near the Rocky Mountains, says he can look out from his office and see antelopes, wolves and foxes disporting themselves. Two bears were among his recent visitors, but in consequence of the noise of the cars he is no longer troubled with buffaloes.

THE Louisville and Nashville Railroad Company having promised to pay all expenses incurred in restoring Judge J. S. Black's arm, which was crushed by an accident on that road two months ago, the attending physicians have made out a bill of $6,500 for services. The Directors of the road innocently think the charge exhorbitant.

THREE royal events are promised to France. The Empress, it is said, will visit the Sultan of Turkey, on the 30th of September, at Constantinople, whence she will probably go to the opening of the Suez Canal. On the 15th of August the Centenary of Napoleon the Great will be observed, and France have occasion to approve or disapprove the saying of his successor—that homage to great men is one way of recognizing God.

Two Irishmen stopping at the Island House, Toledo, lit their gas, and, with windows open, sat down to enjoy a chat. The hungriest of Toledo mosquitoes soon flocked in and drove them desperate. The clerk, who was summoned to devise some defense against them, told them to close the windows and put out the gas. They acted on the suggestion and placed themselves between the sheets. Just as they began to dose, a lightning bug, which had strayed into the room, caught the eye of one of the travelers. He roused his companion with a punch. "Jamie, Jamie, it's no use! Here's one of the craturs sarchin' for us wid a lantern!"

WHY NOT DO IT RIGHT AT FIRST?

—Look at that tombstone, leaning over like a drunken man; and near it is another toppling the other way! There too is an iron railing, all awry; and stone coping, so out of position as to draw the upper rails quite out of their place, making things look like a broken down fence; the stones have gaps inches wide between them!

Look again at the granite steps in front of that house. They would seem substantial and pretty, if they were not all out of plumb. And there's a pavement, that hasn't been laid a long while, and already the bricks are getting loose, ready to spatter mud on blackened shoes and clean skirts, no matter how carefully one walks; and crossings, intended (one would suppose) to turn the water, are basin shaped, forming pools as regularly as it rains. See how those workmen (paid by the people's money, I reckon,) are making yonder crossing; they lay the stones (already basin shaped) lower than the ground around, then fill in the interstices with mud and dirt instead of stone cuttings and sand; this is to walk on!

There is a man who has to raise his pavement a foot or lower it several inches, because the Town Council gave him the wrong grade before; did they guess at it? Or may be, he didn't inquire after the proper grade, or the workmen neglected to follow it. There is a new house that looks well; but go into it. The walls are cracked, the ceilings ditto; some of the plastering is falling down; the floors creak as you walk over them, and the windows will neither go up nor down!

Why is all this? Stone cutters and Masons say it is owing to the frost. Bricklayers saying it is owing to the quality of the sand! Street Supervisors say the crossings were not split straight, and in laying them—(the chief thing was toget an order on the Treasurer.) Builders say the lumber wasn't dry, and the joists sunk. Plasterers say the materials are not good. All this is very comforting to those who paid first class prices for work done! It is like accounting for a tumble, in which one blackens his face and scratches his hands, by the law of gravitation, or saying the sun shines because it gives light! A sounder verdict is "poor work," "bad job;" and an answer is loudly called for to the question at the top of this article.—Perhaps because, if mechanics did their work WELL at first, there would be little money spent on constant repairs.

INCOME RETURNS.—The New Yore Tribune recently published complete lists of all the income taxpayers of New York City and the surrounding counties. Upon examining the lists it was found that large numbers of the wealthiest citizens had made no return of assessable incomes, while many of those whose names were on the lists had returned nominal incomes of a few hundred dollars. The Tribune also named some of those who made no return, denominating them the "poor men of New York." We notice among this latter class a number of prominent democratic politicians, aldermen, officers of the corporation and several members of Congress, including Fernando and Ben Wood and John Morrissey. Some of the parties named have, since the Tribune's publication, voluntarily presented returns of their incomes by which the government has been made some hundred thousand dollars richer. The attention of the internal revenue officers having been directed to the matter, they are following it up, and seem to have found a rich placer, which, if properly worked, will yield a golden harvest.

LETTER FROM NASBY.

Mr. Nasby Receiveth a Letter from the Democratic National Committee Inviting him to take the stump in Various States—He Accepts—Travels Round and Returns—His Letter to the Committee Throwing up the Job.

PEPPER'S TAVERN, HOLMES Co., O.,
Jooly [illegible], 1869.

PAUL, the postel, in his epistle to the Second Corinthians, remarks as follows: "Thrice was I beaten with rods, wunst wuz I stoned. * * * * In journeyins often, in perils uv water, in perils among false brethern."

PAUL wuz doubtless a devoted man, and suffered much, but I kin give PAUL fifty in a hundred on the skore uv suffrin for a coz and beat him. I hevnt bin in any peril uv water for I never let that element get neer me in any shape, but I hev bin beaten with rods; I hev bin stoned ez wuz PAUL, and I hev bin peltid with rotten eggs, ez PAUL wuz not, at least ther ain't no akkount uv it in the Skriptoors. Indeed, I don't remember that eggs, ez evidences uv popler disapprobashen uv publik speekers, wuz ever menshend in the Bible. The Jews hed either not diskivered ther effishency, or the price wuz too high in Joodee to make ther yoose common for sich purposes.

Two weeks ago I receeved a letter from the Chairman uv the Nashnel Dimocratic Committee, requesten me to take the stump in Ohio, Pennsylvany, Injeany and Tennessee. I alluz go wher dooty calls, pervidin expenses is paid, and that being sekoored I started to-wunst. That I didn't succeed, and that I am back here in ten days, hevin in that brief time completed the toor uv four States, is no fault of mine. It yoost to be the boast uv Dimocracy that it wuz one and the same everywhere. It's one and a good many now, and that my intelleck ain't hefty enuff to hold and comprehend the whole uv it, is no fault of mine. Rather set it down to the account uv them wich made these differences, wich are too far apart for any one man to straddle. I feel sensitive on the question. I write these lines with my face kivvered with plasters and my left arm in a sling.

I commenced my labors in Ohio, in this county uv Holmes, which gave more patriots to that noble force wich resisted drafts and shot provo-marshals than any one in the State. Feelin uv course, that I must support the nominees uv the party, I launched out boldly into the vigorous eulogy uv ROSECRANS. I spoke in that style uv fervid oratory wich I learned uv HENRY CLAY DEAN, wich is uv the sky rocket order, ez tho the speaker hed bin born half-way betwixt a camp-meetin and a torch-light perceshun. The sturdy Democracy uv Holmes are ez troo Democrats ez the State kin boast, but they don't think ez rapidly ez they act. They learned some years ago that ROSECRANS wuz a Fedral Genral and that his men wuz the cheef actors in huntin uv em down in 1862-3, but they hevnt got to the pint yit uv lookin at him ez a Dimocrat candidate. Therefore the moment I spoke uv "ROSECRANS the gallant soljer, wich is now a candidate for Governor," they yelled in a outburst uv rage: "Down with the Ablishn emissary wich praises a bloo-bellied butcher," and bombarded me with stones, rotten eggs, and sich.

It wuz yooseless to attempt to continyoo to speak and I succumbed. Troo, the leaders got em rite on the Governor that nite, but I coodent speek to em agin, ez my injouries wuz too severe.

The next pint I wuz advised for wuz in a close county, wher the Democrisy hed bin parshelly under blood thirsty inflooences durin the late onpleasantness, and wher ther show uv success in capcherin the county offices consists in their gobblin a hundred or so Republikin votes. Sposin from the eggsperience I hed that praisin solgers wuznt the dodge in Ohio, I opened out with a viggrus denunsiashun uv the LINKIN hirelins wich brot onto the country the woes wich we wuz now sufferin under, gettin off flooently the speech I yoosed in the VALLANDYGUM campane in 1863. Immejitly ther was another uproar. The candidates choked me orf, and ther friends in the aujence pelted me with sticks and stones, and ez I wuz bein carried away I hed the satisfacshun uv herein a speeker dammin the committee for sendin uv an escaped loonatic to speek to em.

My eggsperience in Ohio wuz not uv a nacher calculated to please me, and I moved to wunst to Pennsylvany.

I felt good ez I struck that sakrid soil. Here, thot I to myself, is a State uv laborers. Here is a State into wich I shel only meet the brawny-armed and horny-handed sons uv toil. Here, for wunst, my path is cleer.

I opened out at my first meetin furiously agin bonds, agin monopolies, agin bloated bond-holders, agin the aristocratic men uv wealth, wich, by akumilatin bonds, hev managed to get into ther hands enuff to subsist onto, thus wringin gorjus luxuries out uv the sweat uv the labrin men, and then rememberin my last Ohio eggsperince, had just commenced to branch out eulogistic uv the noble men who opposed copperheadism doorin the war, when the most unearthly yell ther ever wuz heerd assailed me.

"Who brot you here to abooze our candidate for Governor?" shouted the infooriated mob, and stones and sticks began to fly like hail about me. I stood this till two enthoosiastic admirers uv PACKER rushed to a grocery handy by, and returned in a minit with a baskit uv eggs. Them I never cood stand, and demoralized and bewildered I left Pennsylvany.

I made my way imejitly to Tennessee, where I wuz taken charge uv by the Dimocrisy wich is supportin SENTER. I wuz somewat in doubt ez to wat pertikiler kind uv Democrisy to go for, but at my first meetin I notist perhaps a thousand disgustin niggers mixing in the crowd. To-wunst my line uv ackshun wuz decided onto. There is a reality, thought I, in the repugnanse the nateral Caucashun feels toward the nateral Afrikin; and here, where the nigger elbows his way impoodently among whites, wat better string kin I harp on than nigger suffrage? Confident in the correctness uv my theory, I opened out onto the nigger with the ferocity uv the tiger. "Men uv Tennessee—Democrats uv the State uv JACKSON," yelled I, "are you willin to stand side by side with the greasy, disgutin nigger, whose smell alone is a suffishent warnin agin too close relashenship, politikle or soshel, with em. Dimocrats uv Tennessee! Will you consent that that disgustin beast," (I pinted to one pekoolyerly offensive) "shel be yoor ekal, and that—"

I got no further. A shower uv stones, varyin in size from a hen's egg to them neerly ez large ez that we yoosed ez a corner-stone for the Military and Clasikle Institoot, overwhelmed me, and the indignant white Domocrats pounded me and trampled onto me for aboozin their Afrikin friends, and wat wuz wuss for singlin out ez a object for my insane ribaldry, ther honored candidate for the Legislacher!

Ingeany was my next essay and my last. My first meetin wuz held in a spot pekoolyerly favorable for such purposes. The village wuz small, consistin uv a grocery, blacksmith shop and store, and there wuz a distillery, the proud boast uv the proprieter uv wich wuz that he hed never paid a cent uv tax to a tiraniklo government, and the aujence wuz large and enthosiastic. From my experience in Tennessee, I spozed that probably the Democracy hed abandoned its opposition to nigger suffrage, and seein no niggers, I judged it would be perfectly safe to try myself on that shoot then and there. I akkordingly opened out with a vigorous denunsiashun uv them wich wus so bigoted and so prejoodist ez to deny the ballot to all men, black ez well ez white.

I didn't git no further. The Democracy uv Injeany is ez lively ez them uv Tennessee, Pennsylvania and Ohio. There is a good crop uv stones in that secshun and the air wuz suddenly filled with em, and all uv em wuz flying in the direcshun uv me.

"Down with the d——d nigger lovin Ablishnist!" shouted the inforiated populis, and my heels alone saved my life.

* * * * * * *

I am back in my room under PEPPER'S hospitable roof in Holmes County, Ohio, hevin made the toor uv four States in two weeks. The follerin letter wuz this mornin forwardid to the Chairman uv the Nashenel Democratic Central Committee in Noo York:

"SIR:—I am willin to lift my voice in behalf uv the Democracy, but I can't afford to do it too miscellaneously. I can't spred myself ore too much teritory, ez things politikle are at this time. Travelin expenses and unlimited whiskey is good, but life is better. I can't afford to give my stumick a good time at the expense uv the rest uv my anatomicle structer. I hev bin egged in Ohio, stoned in Pennsylvany, stomped on in Tennessee, and clubed in Injeany for advocatin Democrisy ez I understand it.—Now, sir, I am willin to proceed in the mishnary biznis, but only these condishuns:

1. I am to go only in one State.
2. Yoo must furnish me before I start a legibly printed copy uv the Demecratic platform uv the pertikeler State into wich I am to speek.
3. Yoo must give me, before spekin, with an authentic biography uv each uv the Democratic candidates uv the State into wich I am to speek, statin fully their race, color, finanshel condishun, views on all the questions before the people, parentage and antecedents.

I consider this necessary in the present highly mixed condishun uv the Democracy, to prevent our orators from fallin into sich errors ez them wich neerly laid me a cold corpse into the silent toom.

Respectfully.

Onless these condishuns are fulfilled I shel speek no more.

THE BEST.—Tonics have of late years gained rapidly in public estimation, and are far more generally employed by first-class physicians than they once were. The reason for this is that it is a generally established fact that wholesome tonics used in moderation daily for years do not loose their virtue, neither do they injure the system.—They act in fact like air and exercise, and not as "medicines," which are intended solely for attacks of illness. The BITTER PRINCIPLES, especially those of vegetable origin, all possess the common property of stimulating the appetite, strengthening the nervous system, and of imparting strength. Women generally derive benefit from them even more than men, their system being more liable to debility and exhaustion.—We have again and again in our experience seen the good effects of tonics where the eyes had grown dim and the cheeks pale, and the entire frame showed every indication of exhaustion, nervous suffering and debility.

The best established bitters before the American public are beyond question those of Dr. Stœver, and this is equivalent to declaring that they are the best, since among the scores of really excellent bitters now current, a poor article has no chance of success whatever. The most ignorant person can tell at once by its effects, almost from a single dose, whether any bitters are good or bad. These of Stœver have been sold for thirty years, are composed of sixteen of the safest roots and herbs of a well known tonic virtue, so skillfully selected and compounded with regard to their mutual effects, that it may be doubted whether any more perfect form of this medicine can be made.

Thousands of persons are exposed to or afflicted with fever and ague, bilious ague or other results of malaria. Let them remember that these bitters are as admirable in such cases, as for diarrhœa and cholera morbus, or any ordinary derangement of the stomach. Try them and be satisfied that they should be in the stores of every family, and the trunk of every traveler.

It is a favorable feature in the advertisement of the proprietors of Dr. Stœver's Tonic Herb Bitters, that no claims are made that they will cure every ill that flesh is heir to. The weakest intellect can hardly be imposed upon when told that this or that remedy will remove every form of disease in every stage, and yet we can not take up the majority of journals without encountering an advertisement declaring that this or that medicine is a nostrum which is a perfect apothecary's shop, and a whole college of physicians in itself, rendering all other cures useless. What is claimed for Dr. Stœver's Bitters is simply that they will act as a good tonic, and are capable of doing as much good as a preparation of bitter principle can. They will not cure incurable diseases, but they will often prevent a certain class of disorders from becoming incurable. The references and certificates issued in their favor are all true and honest, and of these there are hundreds.

FROM THE MEDICAL PROFESSION.

LANCASTER, July 25, 1868.

KRYDER & Co.—Gentlemen: In reply to yours of the 22d inst., I would say that I have used Dr. Stœver's Tonic Herb Bitters extensively in my practice during several years past. I do not hesitate to say that I have found it to possess remarkable efficacy in cases of Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Loss of Nervous Energy, as well as Fever and Ague, Diarrhœa, Headache and other diseases proceeding from a disordered stomach; and especially has it proved of inestimable value in general debility of the system, when other tonic medicines have failed to produce the desired effect.

Though reluctant to appear as recommending any particular advertised medicine, a sense of duty to the public and the medical faculty will not allow me to withhold my testimony to the merits of the Bitters in question. Yours, respectfully,

☞Our readers have observed that we rarely praise patent medicines, and that we advertise only the the very best of them. But now, the remarkable recovery of Mrs. Rice, of Canastota, from her distressing and almost helpless scrofulous disease, which is known through the community, and unquestionably the effect of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, leads us to publish without reserve the remarkable efficacy of this medicine. We do this in the interest of the afflicted. Any remedy which can so effectually "raise one from the dead," should be universally known; we wish it may be universally as successful as it has been in the case of Mrs. Rice.—[Daily Journal, Syracuse. 1t

Their peculiar adaptability to all constitutions as cleansers of the bowels and the blood has established their great merit. They restore the liver, the spleen and even the heart to healthy action when other remedies have been used without obtaining any benefit. "In 1868 I was in poor health, and my friends as well as myself supposed that my earthly voyage would soon terminate. But after taking one box of Brandreth's Pills, I began to feel better. SPECIAL NOTICE.

SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP, Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills, will cure Consumption, Liver Complaint, and Dyspepsia, if taken according to directions. They are all three to be taken at the same time. They cleanse the stomach, relax the liver, and put it to work; then the appetite becomes good; the food digests and makes good blood; the patient begins to grow in flesh; the diseased matter ripens in the lungs, and the patient outgrows the disease and gets well. This is the only way to cure consumption.

To these three medicines Dr. J. H. Schenck, of Philadelphia, owes his unrivalled success in the treatment of pulmonary consumption. The Pulmonic Syrup ripens the morbid matter in the lungs, nature throws it off by an easy expectoration, for when the phlegm or matter is ripe a slight cough will throw it off, and the patient has rest and the lungs begin to heal.

To do this, the Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills must be freely used to cleanse the stomach and liver, so that the Pulmonic Syrup and the food will make good blood.

Schenck's Mandrake Pills act upon the liver, removing all obstructions, relax the ducts of the gall-bladder, the bile starts freely, and the liver is soon relieved; the stools will show what the Pills can do; nothing has ever been invented except calomel (a deadly poison which is very dangerous to use unless with great care), that will unlock the gall-bladder and start the secretions of the liver like Schenck's Mandrake Pills.

Schenck's Seaweed Tonic is a gentle stimulant and alterative, and the alkali in the Seaweed, which this preparation is made of, assists the stomach to throw out the gastric juice to dissolve the food with the Pulmonic Syrup, and it is made into good blood without fermentation or souring in the stomach.

The great reason why physicians do not cure consumption is, they try to do too much; they give medicine to stop the cough, to stop chills, to stop night sweats, hectic fever, and by so doing they derange the whole digestive powers, locking up the secretions, and eventually the patient sinks and dies.

Dr. Schenck, in his treatment, does not try to stop a cough, night sweats, chills or fever. Remove the cause, and they will all stop of their own accord. No one can be cured of Consumption, Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia, Catarrh, Canker, Ulcerated Throat, unless the liver and stomach are made healthy.

If a person has consumption, of course the lungs in some way are diseased, either tubercles, abscesses, bronchial irritation, pleura adhesion, or the lungs are a mass of inflammation and fast decaying. In such cases what must be done? It is not only the lungs that are wasting, but it is the whole body. The stomach and liver have lost their power to make blood out of food. Now the only chance is to take Dr. Schenck's three medicines, which will bring up a tone to the stomach, the patient will begin to want food, it will digest easily and make good blood; then the patient begins to gain in flesh, and as soon as the body begins to grow, the lungs commence to heal up, and the patient gets fleshy and well. This is the only way to cure Consumption.

When there is no lung disease, and only Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia, Schenck's Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills are sufficient without the Pulmonic Syrup. Take the Mandrake Pills freely in all bilious complaints, as they are perfectly harmless.

Dr. Schenck, who has enjoyed uninterrupted health for many years past, and now weighs 225 pounds, was wasted away to a mere skeleton, in the very last stage of Pulmonary Consumption, his physicians having pronounced his case hopeless and abandoned him to his fate. He was cured by the aforesaid medicines, and since his recovery many thousands similarly afflicted have used Dr. Schenck's preparations with the same remarkable success. Full directions accompanying each, make it not absolutely necessary to personally see Dr. Schenck, unless patients wish their lungs examined, and for this purpose he is professionally at his Principal Office, Philadelphia, every Saturday, where all letters for advice must be addressed. He is also professionally at No. 32 Bond street, New York, every other Wednesday. He gives advice free, but for a thorough examination with his Respirometer the price is $5. Office hours at each city from 9 A. M. to 3 P. M.

Price of the Pulmonic Syrup and Seaweed Tonic each $1.50 per bottle, or $7.50 a half dozen. Mandrake Pills 25 cents a box. For sale by all Druggists.

Gettysburg, Friday, August 6, 1869.

PIC-NIC.—A social Pic-Nic is to be held in Cunningham's woods, Freedom township, on Saturday the 14th inst.

LARCENY.—Last week, Isaac Smith, colored, was committed to jail, charged with stealing $5 or $6 at the residence of Jacob Brinkerhoff, of this place.

CONSECRATED.—The Yellow Hill Church, (colored,) about one mile west of Middletown, will be consecrated on Sunday the 15th instant, Rev. Mr. Stevens officiating.

LARGER.—Mr. Samuel M. Allison, of Mountjoy township, took from one of his fields a stalk of Oats, which measures 6 feet 3 inches, above the roots—being three inches taller than that noticed last week. The head of this stalk measures 15 inches in length.

BALLOON ASCENSION.—Prof. John A. Light is announced to make a Balloon Ascention, from the Public Square in Hanover, on Wednesday next, between the hours of 9 A. M. and 3 P. M., if the weather be favorable. In case of rain or high wind, the ascension will take place the first fair day thereafter.

SOLD.—Wm. Guinn has sold house, on York, street, to Ellen Stewart, at $2,500.

Wm. S. Hamilton has sold a half-lot of ground on Carlisle street, to George F. Kalbfleish, for $375.

John Houck has sold to Jacob A. Kitzmiller the house and lot of ground, on South Baltimore street, nearly opposite the Battle-field Hotel, and adjoining Mr. Kitzmiller's present residence, for $650.

HANOVER COLLEGIATE INSTITUTE.—The exercises of this well-known Classical School will commence on the 1st of September. The Principal, Rev. H. S. Koons, A. M., has a well established reputation as a successful educator, and this Institution presents rare advantages to the community in which it is located. See advertisement.

ACCIDENT.—A painful accident happened to one of the soldiers connected with Lieut. Turtle's Engineer Corps on the 27th ult. As a wagon containing a number of them was returning from Cemetery Hill, Albert Burke, private, fell from the vehicle and had his left shoulder thrown out of joint. The dislocation was promptly reduced by Dr. O'Neal, the sufferer having been placed under the influence of chloroform.—Compiler.

GOOD PRICES.—At the sale of the effects of Wm. Douglass, deceased, in this place, on Tuesday last, 14 shares of stock of Gettysburg National Bank Stock brought $75 per share, the par value being $50.—Four shares of the Gettysburg Gas Company, brought $62.50 per share—par value $50; and 10 shares of the Gettysburg Water Company $30—par value $15. John M. Stevenson, Esq., of Baltimore, was the purchaser. The bidding was spirited, and the large premiums over the par value show that the Companies are in good condition, and the stock desirable.

SPRINGS HOTEL.—We are glad to notice the daily arrivals of guests for the Springs Hotel. The popular management of the House is making a favorable impression, and by the time the Company complete their contemplated improvements and the merits of the Hotel become known, it will attract visitors from all parts of the country. In all its management it is a first-class Hotel, second to none in the country.

For the accommodation of transient visitors and citizens, arrangements have been completed to furnish Ice Cream and other refreshments at the saloon of the Hotel, on orders left at the office.

EPISCOPAL SERVICE.—On last Sabbath morning, the Rev. W. G. Hawkins, Rector of Trinity church, Chambersburg, held religious services in the Courthouse, according to the usages of the Protestant Episcopal Church. The services attracted a large audience. At night Rev. Mr. Hawkins held religious services at the Springs Hotel. We understand that arrangements are in contemplation to secure regular services in this place under the auspices of the Episcopal church, and to organize a congregation if practicable. Mr. Hawkins, we believe, made a favorable impression during his stay in town.

SERIOUS ACCIDENT.—We regret to learn that Mr. Adam Noel, residing at Mount Rock, in this county, met with a most painful and serious accident on last Friday, under the following circumstances: Mr. Noel had been to Gettysburg on Friday, and after his return home, it is supposed, whilst in the act of stooping down to get a currycomb to clean his horse, he was kicked by him, on the top of the head, causing a fearful and dangerous fracture. Dr. Hombaugh, of McSherrystown, was called in and rendered surgical aid. Mr. Noel had been in an entire state of unconsciousness up to Monday evening, since which time, however, we understand he has rallied, and there are now hopes for his recovery.—Press.

INCENDIARISM.—A grain shed, belonging to Mr. J. Hildebrech, on the road leading from Littlestown to Taneytown, about three miles from the latter place, was totally destroyed by fire on last Thursday night, with all its contents. We learn that Mr. H. had nearly his entire crop of grain in the shed at the time, and also a number of tons of hay. Suspicion at once rested upon a notorious character named John Black, who had previously made threats that he would burn Mr. H's. property, and who was seen in that locality on the evening of the fire. He was promptly arrested and taken to jail at Westminister to await a trial, which will no doubt place him beyond the power of doing mischief for some time to come.—Press.

PASSENGER RAILWAY.—The Managers of the Passenger Railway have adopted the following schedule for the future running of the cars between the Springs Hotel and town:—Leave Gettysburg for the Springs at 6.30, 8.30, and 10.30 A. M.; 12.30, 2.30, 4.30, 6.30, 7.30 and 8.30 P. M. Returning, leave the Springs at 7.30, 9.30 and 11.30 A. M.; 1.30, 3.30, 5.30, 7.00, 8.00 and 10.00 P. M.

On Sundays, to accommodate guests at the Hotel wishing to attend religious services in town, a car will leave the Springs at 10 A. M., returning at 12; and also one at 7 P. M., returning at 9. No other cars will be permitted to run on Sundays.

The fare either way will be 10 cents, as heretofore; but packages of 12 tickets can be had for $1, on application to R. G. McCreary, Esq.

NEWSPAPER LAWS.—Postmasters are required to give notice by letter when a subscriber does not take his paper from the office, and give the reason for its not being taken.

Neglecting to do so makes the postmaster responsible to the publishers for the payment.

Any person who takes a paper regularly from the post office, whether he has subscribed or not, is responsible for the subscription.

A person ordering his paper to be discontinued must pay all arrearages, or the publisher may continue to send it until payment is made, and collect the whole amount, whether it is taken out of the office or not.

The courts have decided that refusing to take newspapers and periodicals from the post office, or removing and leaving them uncalled for, is prima facie evidence of intentional fraud.

FOR RENT two desirable rooms on Baltimore street, near the diamond. Enquire at this office. tf

RE-UNION.—In accordance with the resolutions adopted by the Battle-field Memorial Association, the Secretary, D. McConaughy, Esq., has addressed a circular to a number of the leading officers who commanded Corps, Divisions and Brigades, at the Battle of Gettysburg, inviting them to attend a Re-union in Gettysburg, during the fourth week in August. The purpose of the Association is to put up memorials on different parts of the field, to indicate to visitors important points, and permanently mark the positions and movements of the Armies, Corps, Divisions and important commands in the battle. To enable the Association to do this intelligently and accurately, they desire to avail themselves of the suggestions of the officers who participated in the fight, and hence the proposed Re-union. The meeting will be held at the Springs Hotel, where the visiting officers will be quartered at reduced rates. Arrangements are also in progress to secure a reduction of railroad fare for the occasion.

Gov. Geary is President of the Association, with a number of prominent gentlemen constituting the Directory.

The local officers are:

Vice President—R. G. McCreary, Esq.
Treasurer—George Arnold, Esq.
Secretary—D. McConaughy, Esq.

DEATH OF JUDGE ROBINSON.—A portion of our edition last week contained the announcement of the death of Hon. Isaac Robinson, which took place on the 29th ult., after a lingering illness. Judge Robinson was born in Carroll's Tract on the 18th of March, 1801, and has always resided in Adams county. He was a high-toned gentleman, courteous in manner, and while tenacious of his opinions once found, was careful in reaching convitions of duty. Although modest and unobtrusive, he was at various times honored with official position—having filled the offices of County Surveyor, Justice of the Peace, Member of the Legislature, and Associate Judge. In the latter position, which he was compelled to resign because of impaired health, he enjoyed the esteem of the Bar, by reason of the uniform courtesy and uprightness, which characterized his administration of the duties, and the respectful, generous confidence which he at all times manifested in his intercourse with them. On the announcement of his death, allthough not in official connection with the Court, a meeting of the members of the Bar and officers of the Court was held, at which appropriate resolutions were adopted, and which will be found in another column. The funeral, which was largely attended, took place on Friday afternoon, his remains being interred in Ever-Green Cemetery.

REPUBLICAN COMMITTEE.—The Republican County Committee met at the Eagle Hotel on Saturday last. Owing to the absence of Hon. Edward McPherson, Capt. E. McGinley was appointed Chairman pro tem. After an interchange of opinions, it was unanimously resolved that the Republican County Convention meet in Gettysburg, on the fourth Monday in August, the 23d. The call will be found in to-day's paper. We hope our Republican friends in the townships will not neglect the Delegate elections, to be held on the Saturday previous. The campaign this fall will be an important one, involving the election of a Governor and Supreme Judge, besides the usual County officers. Send good discreet men as delegates to the Convention, charged with the duty of nominating a ticket that shall command the confidence and cordial support of every Republican in the county. The administration of the county offices needs reforming badly, and the nomination of good men may largely tend to secure this desirable end.

DEATH OF JUDGE ROBINSON.

At a meeting of the Judges, members of the Bar, and Officers of the Court, on the 30th day of July, 1869, called on the occasion of the death of Hon. Isaac Robinson, on motion, Hon. R. G. Harper was called to the chair, and Hon. S. R. Russell appointed Secretary.

Hon. Moses McClean stated the object of the meeting, and made some pertinent remarks in allusion to his long and intimate acquaintance, from boyhood, with the late Judge Robinson, and in expression of his many virtues and worth.

D. McConaughy, Esq., spoke in terms of hearty commendation of him, as a gentle of the old school, as a useful and exemplary magistrate and legislator, and as an upright and impartial Judge.

On motion, Wm. McClean, D. McConaughy, and W. A. Duncan, Esqs., were appointed a Committee to draft resolutions, expressive of the sense of the meeting, and reported the following:

WHEREAS, in the providence of God. Hon. Isaac Robinson, one of the Associate Judges of the several Courts of Adams County, became afflicted with serious and painful disease, making it necessary for him to resign his commission, and which, after a protracted period of suffering, has resulted in his death:

Resolved, that we deeply sympathized with Judge Robinson in his affliction, regretted the necessity of his resignation, and bear unanimous and earnest testimony to his pure and unspotted life, to his honor as a high-mined gentleman, to the worth of his example in the various social relations he sustained, to the value of his services as a useful citizen, Legislator and Magistrate, to his uprightness, impartiality and integrity as a Judge, and the ability and fidelity with which he discharged the duties of the several public positions to which he was called by his fellow citizens.

Resolved, that we, in a body, attend his funeral that these proceedings be entered upon the records of the Courts, published in the newspapers of the County, and a copy thereof presented to his family, with our sincere sympathy and condolence.

R. G. McCreary, Esq., in seconding the motion for the adoption of the resolutions, expressed his entire concurrence in the tribute which they offered. They were unanimously adopted and the meeting adjourned.

R. G. HARPER, Ch'n.
S. R. RUSSELL, Sec'y.

NEW STORE.—Mr. Hezekiah Keefer has purchased the Store of Mrs. Paxton, on Baltimore street, and will keep for sale all kinds of Groceries, Flour, Meal, Confections, Notions, &c. Mr. K. is a clever young man, and deserves a good run of custom, which he will doubtless receive.

A CONVENIENCE.—We understand that arrangements have been made to establish a Baggage Depot in this place which will be under the charge of responsible parties. Passengers arriving in the trains can leave their checks at the Ticket office, and their baggage will be delivered wherever ordered. Persons intending to leave in the cars can have their baggage called for at their residences and delivered at the depot, tf

IMPROVED MORNING GLORY.—The famous Morning Glory Stove, so popular as a parlor and office stove, has sometimes been objected to for use in chambers and by families needing but one fire, because not adapted to heat water, &c.—This difficulty has been overcome, and last Monday we saw one of the improved Morning Glories in operation at the Wareroom of Col. C. H. BUEHLER, on Carlisle street, which seems not only to obviate objections but to meet every desired want. It is nothing more or less than the ordinary Morning Glory, with an Oven about 15 inches in diameter attached, and ingeniously arranged dampers by which the heat can be thrown around the oven at pleasure, and making it as hot as the ovens of the best cooking stoves. Water can be boiled, pies baked, and even meat roasted as readily as in a cooking stove. This contrivance, while preserving all the qualities of the Morning Glory as a heater, adapts it for the sick chamber, or use in small families requiring but little cooking. tf

Think you the proprietor of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy would offer $500 reward for a case of Catarrh which he cannot cure if his Remedy was a humbug? Preposterous idea! Sold by all druggists everywhere at fifty cents, and it prepares a full pint of the medicine ready for use. 1t

GETTING WARM.—The Democratic nominating Convention will meet on Monday next. As the time approaches, the contest which has been going on for some weeks between the rival aspirants for the various offices becomes more active, and when the delegates get together a lively time may be expected. Hitherto the interest has circled about the Sheriffalty, for which Messrs. Klunk and Myers seem to have the inside track, with a strong reserve backing up Col. Swope: but recently the fight for Associate Judge and County Treasurer has waxed warm and monopolized special attention. For the former the contestants are Messrs. Krise, McCurdy and Ziegler. The friends of Henry A. Picking, Esq., early in the canvass manifested a disposition to press his candidacy; but being strongly suspected of a leaning towards Temperance—which, by the way, don't belong to the Democratic creed—Mr. P., probably seeing breakers ahead, promptly and peremptorily withdrew his name. Mr. Krise has been working hard, but without any show—the contest being narrowed down to McCurdy and Ziegler, the chances in favor of the latter, who is working like a beaver, persistently and boldly. The fight for Treasurer is between Martin and Brinkerhoff, the other candidates for that office, although clever men, being evidently not in the ring. The contest, however, is complicated by rumored combinations between candidates for different offices, on the principle of "you support me and I'll support you."

We don't know that the Convention will care to consult us either in the nomination of candidates or the fixing up a platform. Doubtless some of the knowing ones have resolutions already blocked out. If not, we tender the following free of charge:

1—Resolved, That Thomas Jefferson made a mistake when he declared that "all men are created free and equal," and "endowed by their Creator with certain inalienable rights." He forgot that this is a "white man's" government, and that "niggers have no rights which white men are bound to respect."

2—Resolved, That the Declaration of Independence being simply a "string of glittering generalities," of doubtful expediency, its doctrines are not binding on the Democratic party of the present day.

3—Resolved, That Rebellion is not a crime—that Lincoln was "an ape," Jeff. Davis a gentleman—Grant a "butcher," Gen. Lee a military genius—and that Lincoln's "hirelings" deserve the lasting opprobrium of all true Democrats for thwarting our Southern brethern in their patriotic efforts to establish a Confederacy, with "Slavery as its corner stone," on the ruins of the present Federal Union.

4—That the "lost cause" is dear to our hearts, and upon reaching political power we will evince our gratitude to the brave men who bled and died for it, by pensioning their widows and children, and giving the most lucrative offices to their surviving comrades.

5—Resolved, That money—not brains—should be a passport to public confidence, and we hail the nomination of Asa Packer for Governor, with profound joy—assured that he will freely shell out the "dingbats." But we insist, as a condition of our cordial support, that the Democracy of Adams county be permitted to share in the spoils, and that Alderman McMullen and the Philadelphia Democrats shall not monopolize them.

6—That free-voting, like free whiskey, is a cardinal principle of Democracy—that the Democrats of Philadelphia ought to have the right to vote as often as they please—and that the Registry Law, which proposes to limit them to one ballot, is unjust and unconstitutional.

7.—The Temperance and Prohibition are the offspring of a morbid fanaticism.—They don't belong to the Democratic creed, and we hereby notify the Judges of the Court of Quarter Sessions, (Judge Fisher especially,) that we expect them in future to grant all applications for Tavern License—especially when the applicant comes endorsed as a sound Democrat.

8.—Resolved, That the rigid economy displayed by Governor Geary in the State, and by Gen. Grant in the National, Administrations is all wrong. The State and National Debts are being liquidated too rapidly, and the contrast between Democratic and Republican rule is thereby made too patent. We demand a restoration to office of the tried and trusty Democrats, whom long experience in office made adepts at stealing and plundering, and whose restoration will not only give us plenty of "spoils" in political campaigns, but prevent a too speedy payment of the State and National Debt.

8.—Resolved, That the "nigger" has been the stock in trade of the Democratic party for more than a third of a century; that the proposition of Gen. Grant and his Black Republican allies to settle the negro question and remove it from the arena of politics, will be fatal, if consummated, to the Democratic party—and we therefore oppose the ratification of the 15th Constitutional Amendment.

We submit the foregoing for the consideration of the "Committee on Resolutions." If not sufficient, the Committee can extend them ad libitum.

NEW OXFORD, PENNA., July 31 1869.

EDITORS OF STAR & SENTINEL:—Mr. James Hersh, of this village, raised this season 285 pounds of potatoes, of the Early Rose variety, the product of 3 pounds planted on 384 square feet of ground. The potatoes are large and fine, many of them weighing 15 ounces each.

Another item of product raised in our town.—A leaf cut from a stalk of cabbage growing in the graden of our townsman, Mr. Wm. King, measured 73 inches in circumference, being a new variety, the first introduced here, called the "Stone Mason Marblehead." These items are given for the benefit of our agricultural friends, who are invited to beat us if they can. If so, they may hear from us again.

AGRICULTURE.

Especial attention is called to the advertisement of that celebrated Specialist, Q. VAN HUMMELL, M. D., of New York City, who treats throat and lung diseases by inhalation—the only acknowledged cure for Consumption. He uses Abbott's Inhaling Fluid, a remedy not known to the profession. Thousands have been snatched from the jaws of death by this wonderful remedy, and those afflicted should not hesitate to immediately place themselves under the Doctor's care. 1t

At a recent meeting of the Board of health of New York, a letter was received from Dr. Harris ceneerning cholera in the West. He says the disease has not become epidemic this summer at any point west of the Alleghenies or north of the Ohio, but it is spreading in a fearful manner west of the Mississippi, upon the great routes of travel. The Zingari Bitters will prevent and cure cholera as well as all other affections of the bowels. It is the greatest tonic extant. 1t

IT GREW.—All "Topsy" could say about herself was that she "growed." And all than can be said in answer to the often asked question, "How did Oak Hall become so great?" is that it grew. There was nothing miraculous about it, nothing beyond the ordinary laws of business development and expansion. Strict integrity, close and constant application to business, an untiring study of the wants of the people, must lead to permanent and large success. 1t

Each applicant for examination is requested to come provided with pencil, paper, a specimen of Penmanship, and a copy of the highest Reader of the series in use in the district. Applicants not resident in the county will be required to present certificates, as to good moral character.—The constantly increasing improvement in educational matters and the grade of Teachers throughout the State demands that we should advance each year,—hence none but those well qualified will be licensed to teach.

Examinations will be thorough in all the branches named on the Provisional Certificate. Directors are urged and the public generally invited to attend. No teacher can be employed without a valid Certificate, which Directors should always see before contracting. No private examinations will be granted. After the districts have been visited, three Saturdays will be devoted to general public examinations, which will be held at the Normal School-building, on High street, Gettysburg. An applicant desiring to enter one of these classes must bring a written request signed by at least four of the directors of the district in which he or she is to be employed. DODD'S NERVINE DID IT.

NEW LONDON, CONN., April 26, 1869.

REMEMBERED FRIEND:—I thought it well to wait another week before writing, to see if I continued to improve, as I have been doing for some time, under the treatment of the new medicine, and I am happy to tell you that I am getting better—even faster than when you were here. I commenced the use of DODD'S NERVINE without anybody advising it. When I began with it I could only walk from my bed to the chair. My trouble has been extreme pain in the head, and has lasted over three years. All the medicine I have heretofore taken has failed to give any relief. I am now able to go up and down stairs, and daily improving. I consider the NERVINE the best medicine I ever found, and shall continue its use, for I am confident of entire recovery. I have taken only three bottles, and would not be without it on any account.

Very truly, MRS. I. S. NUTE.

A Word to the Wise!

HIGHLY IMPORTANT TO FARMERS

Renner's Chemical Fertilizer!

THE importance of a quick, active and durable Fertilizer, adapted to the soil of our county, is acknowledged by all Farmers. Having satisfied myself, after long study and careful experiment, that F. C. RENNER'S surpasses all others in adaptedness to all kinds of soil, I have purchased the right for Adams county, and am prepared to fill orders for it promptly and on reasonable terms. It is no humbug, but

Chemical Fertilizer

HAS BEEN SUCCESSFULLY TRIED

by a number of our Farmers, and is admitted by all who have it to be the best in the market, and the cheapest. I am prepared to furnish this Fertilizer in any quantity, and will deliver

In any town or village in the County, when ordered in not less quantity than a TON. I manufacture it for sale at $50 per ton without bags, or $55 in bags. This fertilizer is composed of the best fertilizing chemicals that can be had. I use no oil of vitriol; it does not contain any ammonia, therefore I do not use it. Neither do I use lime nor ashes.

THE OBJECT OF THE CHEMICAL FERTILIZER is to introduce a fertilizer that will last for a series of crops—not only for one. It contains sufficient animal matter to mature the grain and make it ripen early, while the ammonia forces the growth. I expect to manufacture large supply this winter for the spring crops, and therefore invite farmers and the public generally to give it a trial on all kinds of Grains and Vegetables.

CAUTION.—I hereby give notice that Farm Rights hereafter sold, unless signed by me, are infringements on my Right, and will be prosecuted and dealt with according to law, from which there is no appeal.

All orders will be promptly attended to by addressing

Gettysburg, Friday, August 6, 1869.

WHAT IS THE CONDITION OF YOUR CELLAR?

Is it damp, close, filled with disagreeble odors, proceeding from germinating or decaying vegetables? If so, it is high time you give the matter your earnest attentan; for you have in that locality germs of disease, and yourself and family are liable to be prostrated at any moment. You think your cellar or basement is in good sanitary condition. Do you know that it is? Have you fairly and carefully examined the premises? Have you looked over the potatoes, turnips, squashes, and other vegetables, to ascertain their condition? We know that diptheria, typhoid and scarlet fevers, and many other most serious illnesses, have their origin in cellars, both in city and country; and we can do our readers no greater service than to urge them to see that at all times, they are in a dry, sweet, wholesome condition. Why should farmers and farmers' families, living in the country, away from the pestilential vapors of cities, be so subject to attacks of malignant diseases?

There is a reason for it, and we can point it out. They arise from the indifference manifested to the observance of hygienic rules, and the violation of sanitary laws Cleanliness is essential to health, and is just as necessary in the country as in the city. A family living over a foul cellar is more liable to be poisoned and afflicted with illness, than a city family living in its poluted atmostphere, but without cellar or basement filled with fermenting roots and fruits. There is far more sickness in the country among husbandmen than there ought to be. With plenty of pure air, water, and exercise, the evil imp, disease, ought to be kept at bay; and he would be, if a better observance of certain hygienic conditions were maintained. Bad-conditioned cellars, small, close sleeping rooms, stoves—these are all agents of evil, and are fast making the homes of farmers almost as unhealthy as those of the dwellers in cities. Are not these suggestions worthy of consideration?—Boston Journal of Chemistry.

ECONOMY OF MANURES.

Dry earth is a powerful absorbent and deodorizer of the droppings of cattle. At the Leicester meeting of the Royal Agricultural Society, Moule's earth closet formed a very attractive and popular affair during the whole period of the exhibition.

The principle of Moule's earth closet is to utilise the solid and liquid droppings nett, or before they have been wasted in the atmosphere or mixed with rain water. The proposition is a very old one, it was a great favorite with the agricultural writers of the last century, and is, in not a few cases, actually being called into effect by small farmers who husband everything with the greatest care, and who have, generally, plenty of time on hand to do so. The practice is simple and carried out as follow:

Where two or three cows are kept, very little straw is needed to keep them clean and give them a comfortable bed under attentive management, and with such we have seen dung pits with hardly a straw to be seen in them, the compound being similar to the produce of a Moule's earth closet. A few cart-loads of dry earth, peat, mould, and absorbent materials of this kind, are collected during summer and stored up somewhere near at hand. We have seen it behind the cows, and wheeled in with a barrow by the cottager. The ashes from the cottage fire are added and used daily when the cows are tied up. The cow house is cleaned out, morning and evening, in the usual way, and the moment this is done a few spadesful of earth are carefully spread behind to absorb the liquid. There is a small cesspool to catch anything that escapes, but very little is allowed to flow into it. The cesspool is cleaned out daily. It should rather be termed the manure making trough than a cesspool; for every time the cottager enters, the solid fæces and earth that has absorbed its maximum of liquid are carefully swept into it, and then throughly incorporated with the earth, and a little fresh earth spread behind the cows again. The practice is thus more cleanly and free from smell than the common one. And the extra labor is less than some may imagine, and is fully repaid by the results, as the manure posesses a very high value. Outside, the dunghill is surrounded with a low mound or dyke of earth to turn off rain water, and prevent the cows trampling upon it; and when the privy, poultry house and piggery are cleaned out, their contents are spread over the cow dung; and, before use, the dung-hills is turned in the usual way, the whole being thus mixed together.—The Gardener's Chronicle.

MANURES.

The failure to raise good crops of wheat upon land long cultivated is not so often attributable to indifferent seed as unfair cultivation. In most cases the soil has been robbed of the wheat producing properties, such as the phosphates, potash and other salts. This is true in a large degree of the wheat growing section of the older States, where the soil has been so long drained of its substance that it is no longer possible to raise a heavy crop of wheat in the best season. On such lands farmers should apply bone dust, or bone super-phosphates and ashes to restore the potash. Lime should be used to gather carbonic acid. Lime deposited in large piles will collect carbonic acid from the air and become a better fertilizer. Lime should be applied with grass or other vegetable matter, npon which it acts chemically and produces plant food. It also corrects the sour acids in the soil. Some fields need sulphuric acid which is supplied by sowing plaster.

Sown upon clover, plaster causes it to draw to it the ammonia from the air and water, and if the clover be plowed down when in full bloom and quick lime be used the clover is converted into plant food.

The best fertilizer in the experience of the writer is a compost of muck, barnyard manure and clay, thoroughly decomposed and mixed with equal parts of lime, ashes, salt, plaster and bone phosphate. No soil except a virgin soil will fail to produce wheat with this compound. It should be thoroughly mixed and screened, so that it can be drilled in with the wheat. It should be used in the Fall when the rains help to decompose it and to enrich the surrounding soil, and when the grain roots are ready to take up the parts most needed for food for the wheat plant. Plant roots do not permeate manures and take them up until they are decomposed by the action of the moisture. In time of great drought manures yield very little nourishment. When the moisture penetrates the soil the roots of the plants search for nourishment, and if the soil be loose they can penetrate the particles and gather it all.

Vegetable manures contain a very small proportion [illegible] these must be supplied if the farmer wishes to enrich the soil and raise large crops of grain.

A citizen of Brunswick, Maine, has within three years taken $900 worth of squashes from a little more than an acre of land.

Leached wood ashes make an excellent top dressing for old orchards, which are demoninated hide bound.

Cooking the food of cattle is a powerful agent in the extirpation of weeds.

Soapsuds is an excellent fertilizer of grass and grapevines, and should not be wasted.

YOUNT'S COMPOUND

PUTRID SORE THROAT, INFLUENZA,

THOUSANDS OF CASES,

in different parts of the country, and has never been known to fail if taken in time and according to directions. It is warranted to cure. Give it a trial and it will speak for itself. Every household should provide themselves with a box of this medicine and keep it on hands. The cures that it has effected are truly marvelous.

AYER'S

CHERRY PECTORAL,

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma, and Consumption.

Probably never before in the whole history of medicine, has anything won so widely and so deeply upon the confidence of mankind, as this excellent remedy for pulmonary complaints. Through a long series of years, and among most of the races of men it has risen higher and higher in their estimation, as it has become better known. Its uniform character and power to cure the various affections of the lungs and throat, have made it known as a reliable protector against them. While adapted to milder forms of disease and to young children, it is at the same time the most effectual remedy that can be given for incipient consumption, and the dangerous affections of the throat and lungs. As a provision against sudden attacks of Croup, it should be kept on hand in every family, and indeed as all are sometimes subject to colds and coughs, all should be provided with this antidote for them.

Although settled Consumption is thought incurable, still great numbers of cases where the disease seemed settled, have been completely cured, and the patient restored to sound health by the Cherry Pectoral. So complete is its mastery over the disorders of the Lungs and Throat, that the most obstinate of them, under the Cherry Pectoral they subside and disappear.

Singers and Public Speakers find great protection from it.

Asthma is always relieved and often wholly cured by it.

Bronchitis is generally cured by taking the Cherry Pectoral in small and frequent doses.

So generally are its virtues known that we need not publish the certificates of them here, or do more than assure the public that its qualities are fully maintained.

Ayer's Ague Cure,

For Fever and Ague, Intermittent Fever, Chill Fever Remittent Fever, Dumb Ague, Periodical or Bilious Fever, &c., and indeed all the affections which arise from malarious, marsh, or miasmatic poisons.

As its name implies, it does Cure, and does not fail. Containing neither Arsenic, Quinine, Bismuth, Zinc, nor any other mineral or poisonous substance whatever, it in nowise injures any patient. The number and importance of its cures in the ague districts, are literally beyond account, and we believe without a parallel in the history of Ague medicine. Our pride is gratified by the acknowledgments we receive of the radical cures effected in obstinate cases, and where other remedies had wholly failed.

Unacclimated persons, either resident in, or travelling through miasmatic localities, will be protected by taking the AGUE CURE daily.

For Liver Complaints, arising from torpidity of the Liver, it is an excellent remedy, stimulating the Liver into healthy activity.

For Bilious Disorders and Liver Complaints, it is an excellent remedy, producing many truly remarkable cures, where other medicines had failed.

HAIR VIGOR

FOR THE RENOVATION OF THE HAIR.

The Great Desideratum of the Age.

A dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for preserving the hair. Faded or gray hair is soon restored to its original color and the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always cured by its use. Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remain can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor can only benefit but not harm it. If wanted merely for a nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts longer on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

THE WORLD,

DODGES' OHIO AND BUCKEYE

Reapers and Mowers.

A careful examination of these machines will commence any one of their superior merits over all others, in strength, durability, ease of draft, and reliability for work, on all kinds of ground, and in every variety of grass and grain. Confident of this we invite those in want of a good machine to examine for themselves before purchasing elsewhere.

These machines can be sold as Naked Mowers—REAPERS as Hand Rake, Self-Rake, or Dropper.—Two different sizes: No. 1 Machine, with two cutter Bars and three Knives, cutting five and a half feet in grain and four feet eight inches in grass; No. 2, cutting four feet six inches.

We have that confidence in these machines that we are willing to let those wanting a machine test them with any other they may wish, and keep the one that gives most satisfaction. DODGES' AUTOMAN SELF-RAKE has given such general satisfaction that we consider it the best Self-Rake out, and is attached to no other machine except the Dodge Machine, the Ohio and Buckeye patent.

For the benefit of those wanting machines we would refer them to a few of those to whom we have sold the last season, viz:

Also, WIRE-TOOTH HAY RAKES, including the celebrated Brandt Rake, and Self-discharging Rakes. Also, PLOUGHS, FANNING MILLS, AND FARM IMPLEMENTS GENERALLY.

Persons wishing to examine machines will find them at the warehouse of JOSEPH WIBLE & SONS, Gettysburg, Pa., or at the residence of the subscriber, 2 miles from Gettysburg, on the Harrisburg road. Persons wanting Circulars will address the subscriber, Gettysburg, Pa.

GET THE BEST!

NISHWITZ'S IMPROVED MOWER AND REAPER.

The strongest, lightest draft, most compact, simple and perfect Machine ever offered to the public.

The undersigned having taken the Agency for Nishwitz's Celebrated Improved Mower and Reaper, invites the attention of the Farmers of Adams county to it, as the very best machine now in market. Its general construction, embracing every necessary point to constitute a perfect machine, is so simple that the most inexperienced person can readily understand it. It consists of a less number of bolts, pieces and parts than any other machine, and is better adapted to all kinds of Reaping and Mowing. A thorough examination and trial will show this beyond all doubt. Farmers desiring to purchase a first class machine, at low price, will do well to call and examine it. Price $125; Reaper Attachment $25.

ALSO—THE

for Wells, Cisterns, &c.,—the best in market—and the stock being made of cucumber wood the taste of the water is not affected.

☞Persons desiring to see the Mower and Reaper, or Pump, can do so by calling at Cress' Warehouse, Gettysburg; Hersh's Warehouse, New Oxford, or at the residence of the subscriber in New Salem.

STILL AHEAD!

HOFFHEINS'

REAPER & MOWER,

One of the Greatest Machines of the Age,

IS superior to any other Machine now in use, and will excel any that will ever be introduced, having been thoroughly tried and given general satisfaction. I would now inform all those who intend purchasing Machines to call and examine for themselves This Machine is noted particularly to excel all other machines in strength, durability, ease of draft, and reliability of work, in all kinds of grass and grain.—It cuts lodged grain admirably, which is a great item in Machines to a farmer. It can be used as a hand rake as well as a self-raker. It cuts 5 feet 2 inches in grain; 4 feet 10 inches in grass; has a steel cutter bar, with wrought iron guards; it can be used as a Single Mower as well as a Combined Machine.

A full trial of the Machine can be had.

Also SHIREMAN'S SELF-DISCHARGING HORSE RAKE, and the great and well-known BRANT RAKE the best rakes ever introduced. We would also call your attention to the IRON DOUBLE SHOVEL PLOUGH, wrought iron frame, very light and strong steel shovels, easily adjusted to run shallow or deep and is neatly and tastefully made

ALSO, THE KEELER AND EXCELSIOR FANNING MILL, the old Hamborough Fan improved, for many years a great favorite among the farmers of Pennsylvania. It is large and strong, has two cockle screens, and warranted to work perfectly.

Also all kinds of FARMING IMPLEMENTS always on hand.

Any person wishing to examine these machines can see them at the Battle-field Hotel or at my residence 3 miles from Gettysburg, between the Taneytown road and the Baltimore pike.

GEISER'S PATENT SELF-REGULATING

GRAIN SEPARATOR.

CLEANER AND BAGGER,

With the latest improved Triple-geared Horse Power, either Gear or Belt.

This machine has successfully competed with all the best of the different patented Grain Separators, and now has the reputation of being the best Separator ever produced; in fact, the only Separator and Cleaner ever before the public to give general satisfaction

The machine is conveniently arranged for hauling and threshing, being permanently fixed on two wheels. One man can easily move or shift it about, so that it is not half the trouble on a barn floor as a common thresher and shaker. It is also easily put in operation. It is simple, easily managed, reliable durable, compact and cleanly to work by while in operation, not making near the dust as the common machine or other Separators.

Farmers can rest assured that this machine is no humbug, and judging from the high recommendation of farmers that are using them we must come to the conclusion that it is the very machine that farmers want.

The following are a few of the persons who have used this machine, well known, and to whom the public are referred for further information:
